

LIE IN WAIT TO GET NIGHT RIDERS.

Frankfort Soldiers On Duty In Dangerous Placc.

Capt. Carl Norman and Men Do Good Work.

RAIDERS DO NOT KEEP APPOINTMENT.

With guns loaded and in readiness to repel an attack of night riders, Capt. Carl Norman and three privates of the Frankfort Company stood guard at a point where a raid was expected, but in spite of the secrecy with which the movements of the soldiers was guarded, it must have become known that they were on duty, as the expected raid did not materialize. Capt. Norman and his men came in Monday night and Monday that the night riders had captured Capt. Norman and three of his men, and this report originated by reason of the secrecy with which the movements of Capt. Norman and his men were surrounded. The Adjutant General received a report that an attack would be made on a certain piece of private property. He will not say where this was or who the owner was, but it was reported that the property would be destroyed. In order to prevent this and also to capture or kill the night riders, Capt. Norman and his men were sent to the place secretly. They went so quietly and disappeared so completely and quickly that the other soldiers were unable to account for their going. When the four men were dropped out from the main body of troops and nothing was heard of them for two days the other soldiers began wondering where they had gone and some one started the report that the four men had been captured by the night riders.

While nothing was done to lure the night riders to an attack on the property threatened, it was hoped that they would make the attack so that the troops could actually come into contact with a body of raiders. Capt. Norman had three men with him who were good shots and who are not afraid to shoot if the occasion demands. The orders were to prevent the destruction of the property and also to capture any men that could be secured. Had any attempt been made to destroy this property it is practically certain that when day dawned it would have been known who some of the night riders were.

Boom W. P. Walton For District Delegate.

A boom has been launched by friends of Col. W. P. Walton, who lives in this city, but goes down to Frankfort every day to look after the welfare of his sprightly daily newspaper, the Frankfort State Journal, to secure his selection as delegate from the Seventh district to the National Democratic Convention, says the Lexington Leader.

The matter will be taken up in earnest and it is believed that he will have no trouble in securing the place at the Democratic State Convention here June 11. Colonel Walton is a Democrat of lifelong standing, and one who is always on the firing line in support of Democratic nominees.

PILL PEOPLE PAY.

Colonel Chinn Cleary Carries Case in Circuit Court.

After being out about an hour, the jury at Harrodsburg returned a verdict Friday afternoon awarding Col. Jack Chinn $2,500 damages against the Foster-Milburn Company, of Buffalo, N. Y., because they printed his picture and an alleged testimonial recommending Doan's pills in a pamphlet. An appeal was taken, and the attorneys for the defendant declare that the case will be taken to the highest courts.

NEW KIND OF GRASS

In the handsome lawn of the Harrodsburg hotel, on Todd street, there appeared one of the prettiest lawns ever seen here. The blade is as wide as the width of bluegrass, but considerably longer, and at the end of the blade there is a delicate flower, blue, with yellow pistil, the flower resembling the "Star of Bethlehem," except that it is smaller.

This beautiful grass has spread all over Mr. Tanner's lawn, and makes a very pretty picture.

Negro Accused Of Murder Caught Here.

CHARGED WITH BEING ONE OF A PARTY WHICH SHOT TWO MEN IN WEBSTER.

The eleventh negro to be arrested in connection with the killing of one traveling man and the wounding of another in Webster county several weeks ago was captured here Wednesday morning while he was at work on the McClure building. The negro came here several weeks ago. Some of his fellow workmen tipped him off to the police, and told them that the negro was wanted in Webster county. H. I. Sutton, a deputy sheriff of Webster county, came here and arrested the negro and took him back to Dixon where he will be placed in jail pending his trial. The negro's name is Cal Towry. Jack Barry and P. D. Carter, traveling men, were in the western part of the State, when they heard that there was going to be a lynching at Dixon. They drove across the country and were fired at from ambush by a party of negroes who were trying to protect the man about to be lynched. Barry was killed and Carter wounded so severely that he has not yet recovered. One of the negroes confessed, and the authorities have been rounding up all those who were in the crowd.

Governor Pardons Alleged Plant Bed Scraper.

Believing that she was a victim of persecution by the sympathizers of the night riders, Gov. Willson Thursday pardoned Mrs. Mary Lou Hollowell, formerly of Caldwell county, who was indicted on the charge of accessory before the fact to the scraping of plant beds in that county. Mrs. Hollowell was accused of hiring two men to scrape the plant bed of J. E. Hollowell, and the men were convicted. Mrs. Hollowell is the wife of Robert Hollowell, who secured a judgment in the Federal court for $35,000 against alleged night riders who shot up the Hollowell home.

Positive Cure Found For Sheep Scab Mite.

KENTUCKY EXPERIMENT STATION ANNOUNCES IMPORTANT DISCOVERY.

It was announced from the Kentucky Experimental Station that a positive cure had been found for a disease among sheep known as the scab mite, and that this fatal malady had assumed such large proportions among the sheep of Kentucky that the State veterinary has threatened to quarantine the State against shipments over its borders.

The disease attacks the sheep in the nature of a large scab which in a short period of time, sovers its entire body, not only rendering the wool utterly worthless, but in most cases killing the sheep within a short time.

The disease is contagious and has been spreading during the past few months, so seriously it is said nearly every flock is infected.

The cure for the disease will be announced by the Experiment Station within a short time.
